TH1 – A Winter Garden by Sally Manwell

Class Fee: $70

Have you made a beaded tree before? If you haven't, here is a small tree to try your hand at beading. If you have, here is another craft to add to your miniature skills. We will bead a tree and a small bush. They will look like they are covered in ice. The scene has a fence and a birdbath that we will cover with "snow and icicles" and add a pile of snow to finish the scene. The scene will be housed in an acrylic box 2 ½" x 2 ½" x 5 ½". There is enough room to add a figure or an animal of your own.

Class time will be spent doing final fitting and assembly, including pin hinging the top. Approximate size is 3 ½" long x 1 ¾" deep x 2 ¾" high.

TH5 – Quarter Scale Breakfast by Carolyn McVicker

Class Fee: $79

It's a snowy, blustery winter morning and you can't wait to go out and play in the soft white snowflakes falling from the sky. But wait! First you have to have a good breakfast to get you started. What better way than a cup of coffee, assorted pastries, grapefruit halves, waffles and a plate of bacon, sunny side up eggs, toast with jelly & fruit. This is a breakfast meant to keep you warm while you're outside playing, working or just watching the snowflakes fall.

Minimum Skill Level: Beginner½” scale*Friday Classes*F1 – Katiya’s Corner by Ginger Landon-SiegelClass Fee: $72*

For generations, Katiya’s ancestors were known for their beautiful painted pieces of folk art. The pieces filled the family home and her very special place, each item treasured for its unique beauty and memory of who created it. The Folk-Art style, while similar, varies by location capturing the ambience of the region. Join Ginger for a fun filled class creating these colorful folk-art pieces reflective of Norwegian Rosemaling. She will demonstrate basic brush strokes and shading techniques used to create the scrollwork and flower designs. Students will build the larger shelf and assemble the fan shaped chair, painting the imprinted back with the paint colors of your choice. They will also learn a dimensional texturizing technique for use on the pre-printed wall plaque designs, small horse, decorative shelf and Katiya’s own picture. This simple technique gives printed paper the appearance of actual painted pieces, opening up a wide variety of possibilities. Class will include a 20/0 Ultra Mini Liner brush as well as some unusual “tools” that can be used for this and other miniature projects.

Minimum Skill Level: Beginner1” scale*F2 – Winter Wonderland by Karen BensonClass Fee: $99*

What will I decorate my Winter Wonderland Shop Kit with?? Snowflakes, snowmen & penguins are just a few ideas for this winter theme kit. On the side of Winter Wonderland, there is a shelter to store all of your outdoor décor & toys. The exterior of the shop is finished to look like a log cabin (no you are not going to glue on strips individually) and the exterior trims are painted a delicate misty blue. Everything is included to finish as shown, including the sign, snowflakes & snowflake wallpaper.

Students will assemble and paint the shelf, fill the glass candy jar, (all fimo parts will be pre-made), decorate the cake and macarons, create the candy cone, lollipops and pink roses, decorate the heart sugar cookies and learn how to create the paper chain. F4 – Cookie Cutters by Pete Boorum*Class Fee: $74*

A winter wonderland would not be complete without warm cookies. Students will truly start from scratch on this set of cookie cutters. From an array of forms and strips of tin, they will bend the tin into the various shapes, which will then be soldered to hold that shape. Along the way, students will make a good-sized pastry board, a cookie sheet and a set of tongs! Sugar cookies or gingerbread? That will be their decision at a later time; but yes, their cookie cutters will be able to produce polymer clay cookies.
